A Marvellous Work and a Wonder

Come, Follow Me: Isaiah 13-14; 22; 24-30; 35

Lesson focus

Jesus Christ saves us, gives us refuge in hard times, and restored His gospel through a marvellous work.

SCRIPTURE FOCUS

Isaiah 25:4, 8-9; 28:16; 29:14; 35:5-10

5-MINUTE OPENER

Build a small "refuge" with a blanket, two chairs, or even a large umbrella. Ask the children what a refuge does during a storm. Read Isaiah 25:4 and explain that Jesus Christ can give us comfort, strength, and safety when life feels hard.

TEACH THESE TRUTHS

- Jesus Christ saves us from sin and death. Isaiah promised that the Lord would "swallow up death in victory" (Isaiah 25:8).
- Jesus Christ can be our refuge. We can turn to Him when we are afraid, worried, lonely, or hurting (Isaiah 25:4).
- The Restoration is part of God's marvellous work. Isaiah foresaw a latter-day work that would help people hear and understand God's word again (Isaiah 29:14, 18).

TRY THIS WITH CHILDREN

Refuge from the Storm: Let each child name one difficult "storm" a child might face. For each one, ask: "How can Jesus Christ help us through that?" Write their answers around the word JESUS on the board.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

- What does it mean for Jesus Christ to be a refuge?
- What did Jesus Christ make possible for us through His Resurrection?
- What blessings do we have because the gospel of Jesus Christ was restored?

CLOSING CHALLENGE

Invite the children to choose one way they will turn to Jesus Christ this week when they need comfort, help, or courage.
